IMPORTANT STATEMENT:

This allergen information is based on standard ingredients and the accuracy of the data is dependent on the individual restaurant operator's compliance with proper preparation and portion requirements. Please note that slight variations may occur and American Dairy Queen Corporation ("ADQ") does not assume responsibility for this information and cannot guarantee that the data is completely accurate as it relates to the prepared menu items in every restaurant. Further, not all products are included in the allergen brochure and not all products listed are carried in all Dairy Queen restaurants.

It is also important to note that given the long history of the Dairy Queen system, not all restaurants are the same, and we are unable to provide allergen information for some or all of the menu items at every location. For instance, some restaurants are identified as "Non-System Food" locations based on differing menu, ingredients, suppliers or preparation procedures. Finally, allergen data is not included for the food menu items served in the Dairy Queen restaurants located in Texas and at the "Non-System Food" locations. Please consult with the operators of the restaurants located in Texas to determine if the menu items (food products and/or soft serve products) on the allergen brochure are served in their restaurants or to inquire about allergen information for other menu items at those locations.

Information regarding allergens is provided by the ingredient or product manufacturer. ADQ, its parent company, subsidiaries, franchisees, and employees do not assume responsibility for this information or a particular sensitivity or allergy to any food product provided in the restaurants. Because we want to do our very best in assisting you with your special requests, always tell the restaurant manager if you have a food allergy and ask to see the ingredient listings on the packaging for the product you would like to purchase.

Know that peanuts and other nuts are used in many Dairy Queen treat products and they can inadvertently find their way into other products. Cross contamination may occur between ingredients. Based on our product mix and preparation, we cannot guarantee that any menu items are completely free of any allergen.

Due to the nature of our stores, many of our products are fried in the same oil. Therefore, it is a possibility that any of our fried products may contain any of the allergens used in the fryer oil. Soybean, coconut and/or peanut oils are not indicated as allergens (www.foodallergy.org). Please consult with your doctor as to whether you need to avoid these oils.

For more detailed questions about food ingredients, we suggest you go to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition website at <http://www.cfsan.fda.gov>. For more detailed questions about food allergies, we suggest you go to the Food Allergy and Anaphylaxis Network website at <http://www.foodallergy.org>.
